AROUND THE TOWN

Miss McCallum of Calgary is visiting with Miss Louise Vogel.

Geo. Wigglesworth is home from Calgary during his father's absence.

A Thanksgiving programme will be rendered in the Evangelical church on Sunday evening October 19th.

Miss McGibben arrived at Didsbury from Belfast, Ireland, on Friday last and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nixon.

I, having completed course in dressmaking and tailoring am in position to accept work from a limited number of customers. Ether Martin.

A Bible class has been started at the Baptist Chapel on Monday last. It will continue every week and all meetings to open at 8 p.m. All are welcome.

The Sacraments of Baptism and a Lord's Supper will be dispensed at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning next at 11 o'clock. Everyone who may wish to attend will be welcome.

Mrs. C. Hiebert and family left for Calgary on Monday afternoon where they will reside in future. During the number of years in which Mrs. Hiebert lived here she has made many friends and will without a doubt be greatly missed by all.

Mr. Grannemann's Auction Sale, conducted by G. B. Semsmith on cash terms was a decided success, everything bringing tip top prices. The cash sale is the only method of bringing the cash men together in fair competition.

The School Field Day will be held on Wednesday, October 15, at the Fair grounds. A concert will also be given in the evening of the same date, in the basement of the school at 8 o'clock. Prizes and medals will be distributed. A small admission fee will be charged.

In our last weeks paper an error had been made in the report of the W.C.F.U. Convention, appearing in the first line of the second paragraph, which read as follows: "Reports of barroom departments" and which should have been, in place of barrooms, "various."

The Didsbury High School baseball team journeyed to Carstairs on Tuesday, along with several spectators to engage in a game of baseball with the High School team of that town, and glad to report returned with the tidings that the local boys came out ahead of the game with a score of 10-4.

A Kind Act—As a token of appreciation for extra service in the interest of our school, Mr. J. Reid, the Principal, was handed, on Friday last, a very handsome cheque by the Secretary-Treasurer of the School Board. The amount to be sure was not large, but it was a practical, timely, and kind way of informing the Principal that his zeal and good work for the Didsbury pupils has been noted and valued by those responsible for the education of our youth.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held in the Presbyterian church next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The subjects to be given are: "The rising generation our strong hold" and "Responsibility of Parentage" by Mrs. Eubank and Mrs. Geo. Liesemer respectively, and give promise of an abundance of good things. A full attendance of members especially is heartily desired. Other ladies are cordially invited to attend.

VALUE OF THE BANANA

Its Increased Use as a Food May Influence Diplomacy

Figures show that the world is just awakening to the value of the banana as food. If the present development continues, the acreage devoted to banana-growing must rapidly increase. This can be easily done, for the areas suitable have as yet only been touched. Improved refrigeration and quick steam service will continue to widen the area in which the product can be marketed, and besides its present use as a fruit, it will be used as it now is in the tropics where it is boiled green as a vegetable, and manufactured into a confection known as banana figs. The development of the banana flour industry also promises to open a market for the product of areas too distant to profit by the demand for fresh fruit, just as the perfection of the manufacture of copra, the dried meat of the coconut has opened up a new industry reaching to the farthest islands of the Pacific.

The increased production of the banana in its natural state, and the diversification of its uses promise to introduce a new and hitherto neglected factor in our good supply. If present development continues, it will raise the Caribbean region from its dependence on foreign markets for food to one of the regions from which an important part of the world's food supply will be drawn. The wheat fields of the Dakotas and Manitoba will meet as one of their competitors in feeding the world, the banana plantations of the American Mediterranean. An immediate consequence of the development of the direct trade with Europe, now just beginning is to threaten the supremacy of the United States in some of the Central American markets. People buy their goods, other things being equal, in the countries where their own products find their best sale. If improved transportation facilities for the banana trade develop between the Caribbean and European ports, it is but natural that European manufactured goods will be carried on the return voyage. One of the most important and from our past experience, let us remember, one of the most delicate problems with which our men of state have to deal, is the diplomacy of the Caribbean.

A Speaking Clock

A speaking clock has just been shown in Berlin, says The Hamburg Nachrichten. At every quarter there comes from the inside a voice which calls out the time clearly and distinctly: Three o'clock; A quarter past three; Half-past three; and so on. Possessed of such a clock, we could possibly peacefully bury ourselves in our work without any fear of missing an important engagement. We could surrender ourselves to the joys of sport or talk, when every quarter of an hour we are reminded by the warning voice. In the morning we need not worry over an alarm; the voice of the clock, which we can make quick or slow at pleasure, will do the waking. If we don't want to hear the voice of conscience, we need only switch off the machinery. The invention is due to the idea of a Berlin man, named Selen, whose idea was carried into practice after long wrestling with difficulties by a man named Max Markus. It may prove useful to astronomers, and with a slight change in its working it could be made to call out the names of the stations in our railway carriages. To exploit this invention a company is being formed in Berlin with a capital of $700,000.

It is in demand.—So great is the demand for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil that a large factory is kept continually busy making and bottling it. To be in demand shows popular appreciation of this preparation, which stands at the head of proprietary compounds as the leading oil in the market, and it is generally admitted that it is deserving of the lead.

After May

Obadiah Binks was one of those sentimental idiots who had allowed his passions to capitulate to the ever increasing wiles of the mischief-maker Cupid. To put it more concisely, he had fallen in love.

Unfortunately for Obadiah, however, it was a case of unrequited affection, for the lady of his choice had made it plainly visible from time to time that his attentions were positively objectionable.

One day Obadiah turned up at her abode, nothing daunted by his previous experiences. He was ushered into the drawing-room by her ten-year-old brother, Billy.

Is your sister in? asked Binks, nervously.

No, replied the other, promptly. She's just gone out.

Ah! sighed the love-stricken Binks romantically. So I am like the man who went to the cage when the bird had flown.

No, you ain't responded Billy. You are like the month of June.

Why, how's that?

Because, was the reply, every time you come May goes out.

READING ALOUD IS A LOST ART

Few Persons Make any Pretense of Being Accomplished That Way

All of us have striven to be many kinds of good citizen that we never succeed in being and no doubt every man in town likely as not has tried his hand at verse making, or taking lessons on the mandolin, or furtively attempted an oration with pebbles in his mouth.

This, of course, is as it should be, since it is the method of discovering true talent as well as the lack of it. But, for all our industry, not a few of us have missed things we might have done well. How many of the daughters of men who faithfully practice singing with throats never meant for song, could become an everlasting joy to their friends if they would apply themselves with half the zeal to the art of reading aloud?

A lamentable constraint seizes upon many otherwise gracious persons when they undertake to do this simple thing. The Fifth Reader was the last fair practice they had. We may have a hopeless time emulating the charm and wit the acquaintances of Stevenson, for example, admired in his conversation, but we can reflect a little of them, on occasion, in reading sympathetically from his books. A sickroom evening at home, even lovers' meetings, may be enriched by wise exercise of the accomplishment.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH

IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to little ones. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Shooting the Shoot

If Gussie possessed one suit he possessed a hundred. He had different suits for fishing, hunting, golfing, cricketing, walking, cycling, flying and everything else, and so perfect was his knowledge of the clothing question that you could never surprise him in a costume that did not fit the occasion.

But gamekeepers do not pay much attention to such details, and the man who was guiding Gussie over his new estate took small stock of garb. Hi! There goes a rabbit, he cried, suddenly. Let him have it, sir. Gussie looked after the retreating bulny, but did not raise his gun.

Why didn't you shoot? asked the gamekeeper, in surprise.

I'm sorry, but I couldn't replied Gussie, mournfully. I'm in my pheasant costume.

Worn Silk Gloves

The fingers and hands of elbow length silk gloves wear out, leaving the uppers comparatively new. Where there is a baby in the house these may be turned to good use. Place one of baby's socks on the gloves, the leg part of the sock and the hemmed and then cut socks for the baby after the pattern. Sew carefully into shape with flat seams. Here you have a good, lightweight sock only for the cost of trouble or making. The top should be reinforced to withstand the wear and tear of safety pins.

Canadian Trap Shooting Honors

At the Grand Canadian Trap Shooting Tournament recently held at Hamilton, Ontario, there was keen competition between the leading shots of the Dominion for supremacy. The amateur Championship of Canada was won by W. Barnes of Hamilton with a perfect score of 50 targets. Mr. Barnes used Winchester Factory Loaded Shells. The Grand Canadian Handicap was won by H. Smith of Chatham with a score of 48 x 50 from 18 yard rise, and the Earl Grey cup, for the High Aggregate of the tournament, was won by R. Day of London with a score of 287 x 300 targets. Both Mr. Smith and Mr. Day used Winchester Repeating Shotguns. The important victories won with Winchester Loaded Shells and repeating Shotguns is another demonstration of their splendid shooting qualities.

He came from the country, but he was not green—not by any means. Had a confidence man tried tricks on him there would have been serious trouble.

Nor was he taking any risks at the hotel. London might be a smart place, but they wouldn't catch him napping.

In the early hours of the morning the plaintive voice of the 'boots' sounded outside his door.

What is it? asked William, prepared to do battle with his wits.

Please, sir, came the answer, you haven't put your boots outside, sir.

No; you bet I haven't, responded the wily William. They're under my pillow, and there they're going to stop; I know a bit too much for the likes of you!

John—Why, they're things I cleaning the sky so's to have fine weather. They're cute people, them Yankees.

She Smelt It

She professed to take an immense interest in the professor's wonderful collection of mineral ores.

She was examining the specimens one day, and taking up one, which struck her fancy, said: What do you call this, professor?

That is silver ore, was the answer. Very interesting, I am sure, she replied. But however do they obtain the silver.

Oh, it is a simple process. They merely smelt it, madam.

Then the old lady placed the ore to her nose, sniffing loudly said: I have smelt it, too, but even with my spectacles on I can't see any silver.

CHAPTER I.

Sentiment and Clews

In my criminal work anything that wears skirts is a lady until the law proves her otherwise. From the frayed and slovenly petticoats of the woman who owns a poultry stand in the market and who has grown wealthy by selling chickens at twelve ounces to the pound or the silk sweep of Mamie Tracy, whose diamonds have been stolen down on the avenue, or the staidly respectable black and middle aged skirt of the client whose husband has found an affinity partial to laces and fripperies and has run off with her—all the wearers are ladies and as such announced by Hawes. In fact, he carries it to excess. He speaks of his wash lady, with a husband who is an ash merchant, and he announced one day in some excitement that the lady who had just gone out had appropriated all the loose change out of the pocket of his overcoat.

So when Hawes announced a lady I took my feet off my desk, put down the Chief I had been reading and rose perfectly. With my first glance at my visitor, however, I threw away my cigar and I have heard since, set settled my tie. That this client was different was true in on me at once by the way she entered the room. She had poise in spite of embarrassment, and her face when she raised her veil was white, refined and young.

I did not send in my name, she said when she saw me glancing down for the card Hawes usually puts on my table. It was advice I wanted, and I did not think the name would matter.

She was more composed, I think, when she found me considerably older than herself. I saw her looking furtively at the graying places over my ears. I am only thirty-five, as far as that goes, but my family, although it keeps its hair, turns gray early—a business asset, but a social handicap.

Won't you sit down? I asked, pushing out a chair so that she would face the light while I remained in shadow. Every doctor and every lawyer knows that trick. Only too often the raising of a woman's veil in my office reveals the ravages of tears or rouge, or dissipation. My new client turned fearlessly to the window at unlined face, with a clear skin, healthily pale. From where I sat her profile was beautiful.

I hardly know how to begin, she said, but suppose—suppose—that man, a well known man, should leave home without warning, not taking any clothes except those he wore and saying he was coming home to dinner, and he—

How long has he been gone?

Ten days.

I should think it ought to be looked into, I said decisively and got up. Somehow I couldn't sit quietly. A lawyer who is worth anything is always a partisan, I suppose, and I never hear of a man deserting his wife that I am not indignant, the virtuous scorn of the unmarried man perhaps. But you will have to tell me more than that. Did this gentleman have any bad habits—that is, did he—er—drink?

Not to excess. He played bridge for money, but I believe he was rather lucky.

Married, I suppose? I asked casually.

He had been. His wife died when I— She stopped and bit her lip. Then it was not her husband after all. Oddly enough, the sun came out just at that moment, spilling a pool of sunlight at her feet.

It is my father, she said simply, I was absurdly relieved.

He would have papers to identify him?

His pockets were always full of envelopes and things like that.

Don't you think I ought to know his name? I asked. It need not be known outside of the office, and this is a sort of confidential anyhow, or worse.

My name is Fleming, Margery Fleming, she said after a second's hesitation, and my father, Allan Fleming, is the man. Oh, Mr. Knox, what a we going to? He has been gone for more than a week!

No wonder she had wished to conceal the identity of the missing man. S. Allan Fleming was lost! A good many highly respectable citizens would hope that he might never be found. Fleming, state treasurer, delightful companion, polished gentleman and successful politician of the criminal type. Outside in the corridor the office boy was singing under his breath:

Oh, once there was a miller, who lived in a mill. It brought to my mind the reform meeting a year before, where for a few hours we had blown the feeble spark of protest against machine domination to a flame. We had sung a song to that very tune, and with this white faced girl across from me its words came back with revolting truth.

Oh, once there was a capitol

That sat upon a hill!

As it's too big to steal away

It's probably there still.

The ring's hand in the treasury

And Fleming with a sack.

They take it out in wagon loads

And never bring it back.

I am more than sorry, I said. I was too.

Whatever he may have been he was her father. After all, there may be a dozen simple explanations and there are exigencies in politics.

I hate politics! she broke in suddenly.

When I read of women wanting to vote and all that I wonder if they know what it means to have to be polite to all people, people who have been convicts and all that.

Why, our last butler had been a prize fighter! She sat upright with her hands on the arms of the chair. That is another thing, too, Mr. Knox. The day after father went away, Carter our butler, left. He was not there that evening to serve dinner but—he came back late that night and got into the house, using his key to the servants entrance.

He slept there, the maids said, but he was gone before the servants were up, and we have not seen him since.

Your father has not been ill, has he?

I mean recently.

I cannot think of anything except that he had a tooth pulled. She was quick to resent my smile.

You have not noticed any mental symptoms—any lack of memory?

Her eyes filled.

He forgot my birthday two weeks ago, she said. It was the first one he had ever forgotten in nineteen of them.

Nineteen! Nineteen from thirty-five leaves sixteen.

What I meant was this, I explained. People sometimes have sudden and unaccountable lapses of memory and at those times they are apt to stray away from home. Has your father been worried lately?

He has not been himself at all. He has been irritable even to me and terrible to the servants. Only to Carter—he was never ugly to Carter.

You have no brothers or sisters?

None. I came to you—there she tripped.

Please tell me how you happened to come to me, I urged.

I didn't know where to go, she confessed, so I took the telephone directory, the classified part under Attorneys, and, after I shut my eyes, I put my finger haphazard on the page. It pointed to your name.

I am afraid I flushed at this, but in a moment I laughed.

We will take it as an omen, I said, and I will do all that I can. But I am not a detective, Miss Fleming. Do you not think we ought to have one?

Not the police! She shuddered.

Suppose you tell me what happened the day your father left and how he went away. Tell me the little things too.

In the first place, she began, we live on Monmouth avenue. There are just the two of us and the servants—a cook two housemaids, a laundress, a butler and a chauffeur. My father spends much of his time at the capital, and in the last two years since my old governess went back to Germany at those times I usually go to mother's sisters at Bellwood, Miss Letitia and Miss Jane Maitland.

I nodded. I knew the Maitland ladies well. I had drawn up four different wills for Miss Letitia in the last year.

My father went away on the 10th of May. He got up from breakfast, picked up his hat and walked out of the house. He was irritated at a letter he had read.

He took the letter with him. He did not come home that night, and I went to the office the next morning. The stenographer said he had not been there. He is not at Plattsburg because they have been trying to call him from there on the long distance telephone every day.

In spite of her candid face I was sure she was holding something back.

Why don't you tell me everything?

I asked.

She flushed. Then she opened her pocketbook and gave me a slip of rough paper. On it in careless figures was the number eleven twenty-two. That was all.

I was afraid you would think it silly, she said. It was such a meaningless thing. You see, the second night after father left I was nervous and could not sleep. I expected him home at any time, and I kept listening for his step downstairs. About 3 o'clock I was sure I heard some one in the room below me. I felt relieved, for I thought he had come back. But I did not hear the door into his bedroom close, and finally I slipped along the hall to his room. I had a queer feeling before I turned on the light that there was some one standing close to me. But the room was empty and the hall too.

And the paper?

The paper had been pinned to a pillow on the bed. When I saw the pin I was startled. I rang for Annie, the second housemaid, who is also a sort of personal maid of mine. It was half past 3 o'clock when Annie came down. I took her into father's room and showed her the paper. She was sure it was not there when she folded back the bedclothes for the night at 9 o'clock.

GROWING STRONGER

Apparently With Advancing Age

"At the age of 50 years I collapsed from excessive coffee drinking," writes a Western man. Tea is just as injurious, because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee. "For four years I shambled about with the aid of crutches or cane, most of the time unable to dress myself without help. "My feet were greatly swollen, my right arm was shrunk and twisted inward, the fingers of my right hand were clenched and could not be extended except with great effort and pain. Nothing seemed to give me more than temporary relief. "Now, during all this time and for about 30 years previously, I drank daily an average of 6 cups of strong coffee—rarely missing a meal. "My wife at last took my case into her own hands and bought some Postum. She made it according to directions and I liked it fully as well as the best high-grade coffee. "Improvement set in at once. In about 6 months I began to work a little, and in less than a year I was very much better, improving rapidly from day to day. I am now in far better health than most men of my years and apparently growing stronger with advancing age. "I am busy every day at some kind of work and am able to keep up with the procession without a cane. The arm and hand that were once almost useless, now keep far ahead in rapidity of movement and beauty of penmanship."

Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Write for copy of the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and with the addition of cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly.

There's a reason for Postum

They Hunt Passengers

In the land of the Rising Sun there are no specified rules and regulations in regard to managing street cars, and the result is that the conductors do practically as they please with the internal management of the vehicles.

To effect reforms in this connection a crusade has been started in Japan, which is every day gathering in numbers and in importance. It is declared that the conductors ought to be forbidden to push passengers into the cars by sheer force.

When a car is full, it is full and there is no way to get into it except by being rude to those occupying it. Now, if the conductor is honestly convinced that there is room for an extra passenger in the crowded car, he ought himself to be compelled to find a place for you before ordering you to enter.

But this does not bother him in the least. He simply tells you that you must go in, and compels you to make room for himself.

In the circumstances, the only thing to be done is to leave the car and take another, but in this case the conductor will not return your ticket, so that you will be practically obliged to pay double fare.

Another ground of complaint is that conductors sometimes refuse or neglect to stop at the place your ticket is marked for, and thus you are carried several hundred yards out of your way.

If Miller's Worm Powders needed the support of testimonials they could be got by the thousands from mothers who know the great virtue of this excellent medicine. But the powders will speak for themselves and in such a way that there can be no question of them. They act speedily and thoroughly, and the child to whom they are administered will show improvement from the first dose.

Tommy Knew

The teacher was endeavoring to illustrate to her pupils the association of various species of life with common substances.

For instance, she explained, you will always find plants where there is soil, birds where there are trees, and so on. Now, can anyone tell me what we associate with fish?

Suddenly, with the velocity of an aeroplane, a hand shot up from the back form. It was the property of Tommy Jones. Please, miss, I know, piped that worthy.

Well? was the teacher's query.

Chips, was the unexpected reply.

They had just been married, that was plain to be seen. They watched up the railway platform as if it were a church aisle. They had already peeped in half a dozen carriages of the train, but they were all full up. The guard blew his whistle, and the young man made a dash for the nearest compartment.

Do you think we could squeeze in here, darling? he cried.

She blushed, and bashfully pulled him back. Oh, Harold, she whispered, don't you think we had better wait until we get home?

Her Age

The maiden lady of uncertain age became very indignant when the census taker asked her age.

Did you see the girls next door, she asked, the Hill twins?

Certainly, replied the census man. And did they tell you their age?

Yes.

Well, she snapped as she shut the door in his face. I am just as old as they are!

Oh, very well, said the census man to himself, and he wrote down in the book: Jane Johnson—as old as the Hills.

The young rector of an Episcopal Church in Alabama, an Englishman, by the way, was asked recently to officiate at the wedding of a negro couple on a near-by plantation. He consented, but thought he would beforehand learn something of the contracting parties, so he said to the prospective groom:

Have you ever been married before?

Yes sir, said the negro.

The alacrity of the response put a crimp in the rector, so to speak, and he asked with some uneasiness:

Your wife is dead, is she not?

Naw, sah, was the unexpected reply, she's in Norf' Calina.

Why did she leave you? then asked the rector.

I can't ezactly tell you, sah, said the negro. Yuh see, I wuz erway from home at de time, an' I ain't been back dere since.

Longest Telephone Cable

A 35-mile cable for telephonic connections between Vancouver and Vancouver Island has been received from England. It cost more than $100,000, weighs 560,000 pounds, and the expense in laying was $20,000.

Considerable Customs duty was saved by the Canadian Government not charging duty on that part of the cable laid below low-water mark. It is said to be the longest telephone cable in the world, and is laid at a depth heretofore not attempted, much of the line going two hundred fathoms deep in the Gulf of Georgia, at one place being 1,356 feet deep. A cable will be stretched across Saanich inlet, which will bring Victoria into much better connection with Vancouver by means of the cable just laid.—Consular Reports.

UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES CAME ON FACE

Sores Spread Until Face Was Covered. So Itchy Could Not Resist Scratching. Cured Entirely in About Two Weeks by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Clachan, Ontario.—"My trouble started with sores breaking out on the face. They came as pimples and were unsightly. These sores seemed to keep spreading until my face was covered. They were so itchy that at times I could not resist scratching them. After trying two or three different salves which did not stop the sores breaking out, I tried a cake of Cuticura Soap also Cuticura Ointment. I found that they cured me entirely of the sores in about two weeks." (Signed) Fred E. Meyer, Feb. 12, 1912.

LEGS BURNED AND ITCHED

Souris West, P. E. Island.—"My little girl, aged four years, was troubled with a painful rash on her legs. It began in a dry rash very hot and itchy and after a few days it looked like little pimples with a white top on them. Her legs burned and itched very much and she was very restless and was also cross and fretful. She used to scratch and make sores when I was not watching her. I had to leave her stockings off her as they would irritate her legs. I used to bathe her legs with warm water and use the Cuticura Soap freely, then dry her legs and rub on the Cuticura Ointment and she was cured in one week." (Signed) Mrs. P. J. Mullally, Aug. 1, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each, with 32-p. book, send post card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 51D, Boston, U. S. A.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time.

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consultant) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Compulsory Matrimony

The declining marriage rate in so many countries is causing all sorts of suggestions to be made for inducing people to enter the state of matrimony such as the taxing of bachelors and conferring social privileges on those who have large families. A month or two ago the rural council of Trim ordered its bachelors to marry or quit the municipal cottages. But all these are exceedingly mild measures compared with a proposal which comes from Trieste. The proposal is that all bachelors who have attained their thirtieth year—a time when a man is at his prime according to Mahomet—should be summoned before the Syndicate together with all spinsters who have reached the age of twenty-five. Then, after a medical examination, those whom the doctors consider healthy are to have their names placed in separate urns and drawn two by two. The couples whose names are paired are to be married immediately. This is making a lottery of marriage with a vengeance.

St. Joseph, Levis, July 14, 1903. Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentlemen,—I was badly kicked by my horse last May and after using several preparations on my leg nothing would do. My leg was black as jet. I was laid up in bed for a fortnight and could not walk. After using three bottles of your MINARD'S LINIMENT I was perfectly cured, so that I could start on the road.

Henry George on Suffrage

I am convinced that we make a great mistake in depriving one sex of voice in public matters, and that we could in no way increase the attention, the intelligence, and the devotion which may be brought to the solution of social problems as by enfranchising our women. Even if in a ruder state of society the intelligence of one sex suffices for the management of common interests, the vastly more intricate, more delicate, and more important questions which the progress of civilization makes of public moment, require the intelligence of women as of men, and that we never can obtain until we interest them in public affairs. And I have come to believe that very much of the inattention, the flippancy, the want of conscience, which we see manifested in regard to public matters of the greatest moment, arises from the fact that we deprive our women from taking their proper part in these matters. Nothing will fully interest men unless it also interests women. There are those who say that women are less intelligent than men; but who will say that they are less influential?—"Social Problems" (Chapter xxii), by Henry George.

Exciting Finish Marks North Carolina State Shoot

J. B. Pennington, of Tarboro, and L. B. Pierce, of Wilmington, tied for the North Carolina state trapshooting championship at 91 out of a possible 100. In the shoot-off Mr. Pennington who shot Nitro Club speed shells and a Remington pump gun, the arm also used by his competitor, captured the title with 18 targets out of 20. Geo. W. Collins, of Due West, S. C. broke 371 out of 400 with a Remington pump gun and won high amateur average for the entire two days of the meet. Long run, were registered by C. E. Goodrich and Home Clark, each using a Remington for scores of 119 straight and 142 straight respectively.

A Paying Camera

A camera is a delightful summer companion and when the photographer has passed the really amateur stage, she may consider the possibility of making some money by her pictures, or at least making her camera pay expenses. Selling pictures as illustrations to periodicals, is one money-making method. Newspapers, trade journals, farm journals, outing magazines, general magazines, are all in the market for pictures, and their specific needs should be carefully studied by the amateur photographer. The pictures for any magazine are clear black-and-white prints, with the people or the particular object centered and emphasized in such a manner that the point of the picture is easily obvious.

Outside of the money gained, picture-taking enlarges one's viewpoint. One's observation grows greatly under the spur of finding material for the camera and one's sense of beauty suddenly gains a new self-respect through having a definite business to attend to.

Valuable Knowledge

The Muddletown ambulance class were being examined.

When a certain brainy yokel was asked to describe the circulation of the blood he promptly replied: Well, the blood is pumped from the heart through the blood vessels of the leg and right to the bottom of the foot.

Yes, said the examiner, you are right as far as you go, but how does it return?

The yokel hesitated a minute.

Then he replied: Up the other leg.

VARICOSE VEINS AND ITCHING PILES

Usually Arise From Same Cause—Relief and Cure Effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Nearly everybody knows of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the most effective treatment for piles or hemorrhoids that medical science has been able to compound. So much suffering and misery arises from this ailment that one is not long in telling his friends when he has found an actual cure. This accounts for the enormous sales of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This letter tells of relief from the suffering of varicose veins by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Many suffer from this trouble not knowing the comfort to be obtained by the use of this great soothing ointment.

Mrs. R. J. Evans, 187 Munro street, Toronto, writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for year. I have been troubled with varicose veins, and find it the only thing that gives relief. For every purpose when a soothing, healing ointment is needed there is nothing so good as Dr. Chase's Ointment." 60 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

A Good Roads Enthusiast

There's a real 'good roads' enthusiast in Lauderdale County, Mississippi. His name is Joe Clark, and when the 'Meridian Evening Star' interviewed him a year after the roads had been improved, he said:

"I live four miles from the city and two miles from the school. This has been the worst winter I have ever seen, but there hasn't been a single day that my children haven't walked to school, and not a single day have they come home with wet feet, and to think, they walked down the middle of the road. Not one of them has been sick with a cold, even while heretofore my doctor bills have been more than my road tax. Talk to me about paying taxes to build roads! I am willing to pay taxes on my pack of fox hounds, my bird dogs, my chickens, my home, and, if necessary, my wife and children, if they will use it in extending roads like this all over the county. I would rather have my house and ten acres of land on this road like it is now than have my whole farm on the old road like it was before improvement.

Do it Now.—Disorders of the digestive apparatus should be dealt with at once before complications arise that may be difficult to cope with. The surest remedy to this end and one that is within reach of all, is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, the best laxative and sedative on the market. Do not delay, but try them now. One trial will convince anyone that they are the best stomach regulator that can be got.

Mrs. Manners (who has given Tommy a slice of bread and butter)—That's right! I like to hear little boys say: Thank you.

Little Boy—Well, if you want to hear me say it again you might put some jam on it.

What is personal magnetism? Personal magnetism, replied the manager, is what enables a man to stand up and keep the audience interested in a lecture without the use of moving pictures.

The Wonder of It

We wandered on the seashore, We wondered at the sky; I told her how I loved her, She said: She wondered why? I wondered if she'd have me, She gently answered Yes, And then we wandered, wondering In speechless happiness.

And now since we are wedded, We wonder, as of yore, We wondered as we wandered Along the ocean shore, With just the bit of difference That our wonder we condense Into wondering how we happened To have so little sense.

D. Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Department of Neglected Children

The work of the Department of Neglected Children since January 1st, 1913, has proved double that of the preceding year for a corresponding period. The number of cases dealt with is enormous.

The Department has been fortunate in finding foster homes for practically all the children who have come under the care of the Department from various places in the Province.

Children placed on probation number 167, and the records are good. It is a significant fact that it has been necessary to send only 8 boys to a Reformatory during the past year. This record is the best in probation of any place on the North American continent.

Probation has proved its success, and it is not costly. The Department of Neglected Children, unfortunately is a non-revenue producing department, and must be considered as an expense which has to be met. Fines are not possible under the Children's Protection Act except in cases of interference, and as the cases are usually adjusted without going into court, therefore, soon it becomes necessary to explain to the general public that the cost of running this department is heavy and with few returns in the way of money. Against this is the fact that every child dealt with means an asset of $1,000 to the state on the basis established by the Immigration Authorities.

On the other hand, if the children are allowed to degenerate into criminals, the cost will be from four to five thousand dollars for the state to care for each criminal in penal institutions.

It is the prevention nature of the work which gives this department its greatest value to the Province.

The Children's Protection Act of Alberta, is the best Act of its kind in use on the American Continent, and its results show a good record in saving—to good citizenship—thousands of lives of children, who are drifting into lives of debauchery and crime.

Good roads, and good public buildings, are essential, but what use are any of them? unless good citizens are developed to properly enjoy and use them. The great object of this work is to produce good and upright citizens.

The ramifications of this department turn into innumerable channels in the course of the work.

It is to be understood that in most cases, the difficulties are adjusted without going into court.

Local Children's Aid Societies and Committees have been organized in various places, and those who are interested and would wish to join the local branch, or organize a Society, are requested to communicate with the Superintendent of Neglected Children, Old Parliament Buildings, Edmonton.
